Health and Wellbeing Skill Standard Development Project

Tēnā koutou,

We hope this email finds you all well and that 2025 is proving to be a good year.

In the recent review of Health and Wellbeing qualifications, it was identified that the current qualifications aren't always meeting the needs of the sector's diverse workforce groups. To address this, we will explore ways to better meet these needs through the development of new skill standards.

Our initial focus will be on creating core skill standards that capture the critical skills applicable across various roles in the sector. We will then develop role-specific skill standards to address the unique requirements of different roles, sectors, and environments.

To see more information about this process please head to our website Health and wellbeing skill standard development.

If you are interested in being part of the skill standards development process or have feedback for us, please get in touch.

Please feel free to share this pānui across your networks!
Expressions of interest and initial feedback is due by 21 February 2025.

As always, we appreciate your help and support as we couldn't do this mahi without your expertise.

Ngā mihi
